Foreword

As we, the Class of Nineteen Hundred Sixty-Two, stand on the threshold of new experiences, the words of our Alma Mater attain new meaning for us. Its words have been an inspiration to us throughout the time we have spent at Prospect Hill, and we know that the Faith that guides and lights us ever will continue to guide us in whatever we do. Everything which Prospect Hill symbolizes, we shall carry with us All through the years. So, As we turn, our footsteps leaving, we pause to take a last look at our years here before turning our eyes to the future.

Alma Mater

Prospect Hill, success attend thee
All through the years;
Love and loyalty uplift thee
All through the years.
May our faith in thee change never,
Faith that guides and lights us ever,
Strength'ning bonds time will not sever
All through the years.

Thou hast harbor'd us, thy daughters,
All through the years.
Cherished, shielded, and inspired
All through the years.
As we turn, our footsteps leaving,
We'll return always believing:
You our destinies were weaving
All through the years.

B.A., Wellesley College; M.A., Columbia University; Student Columbia University Graduate Faculty.

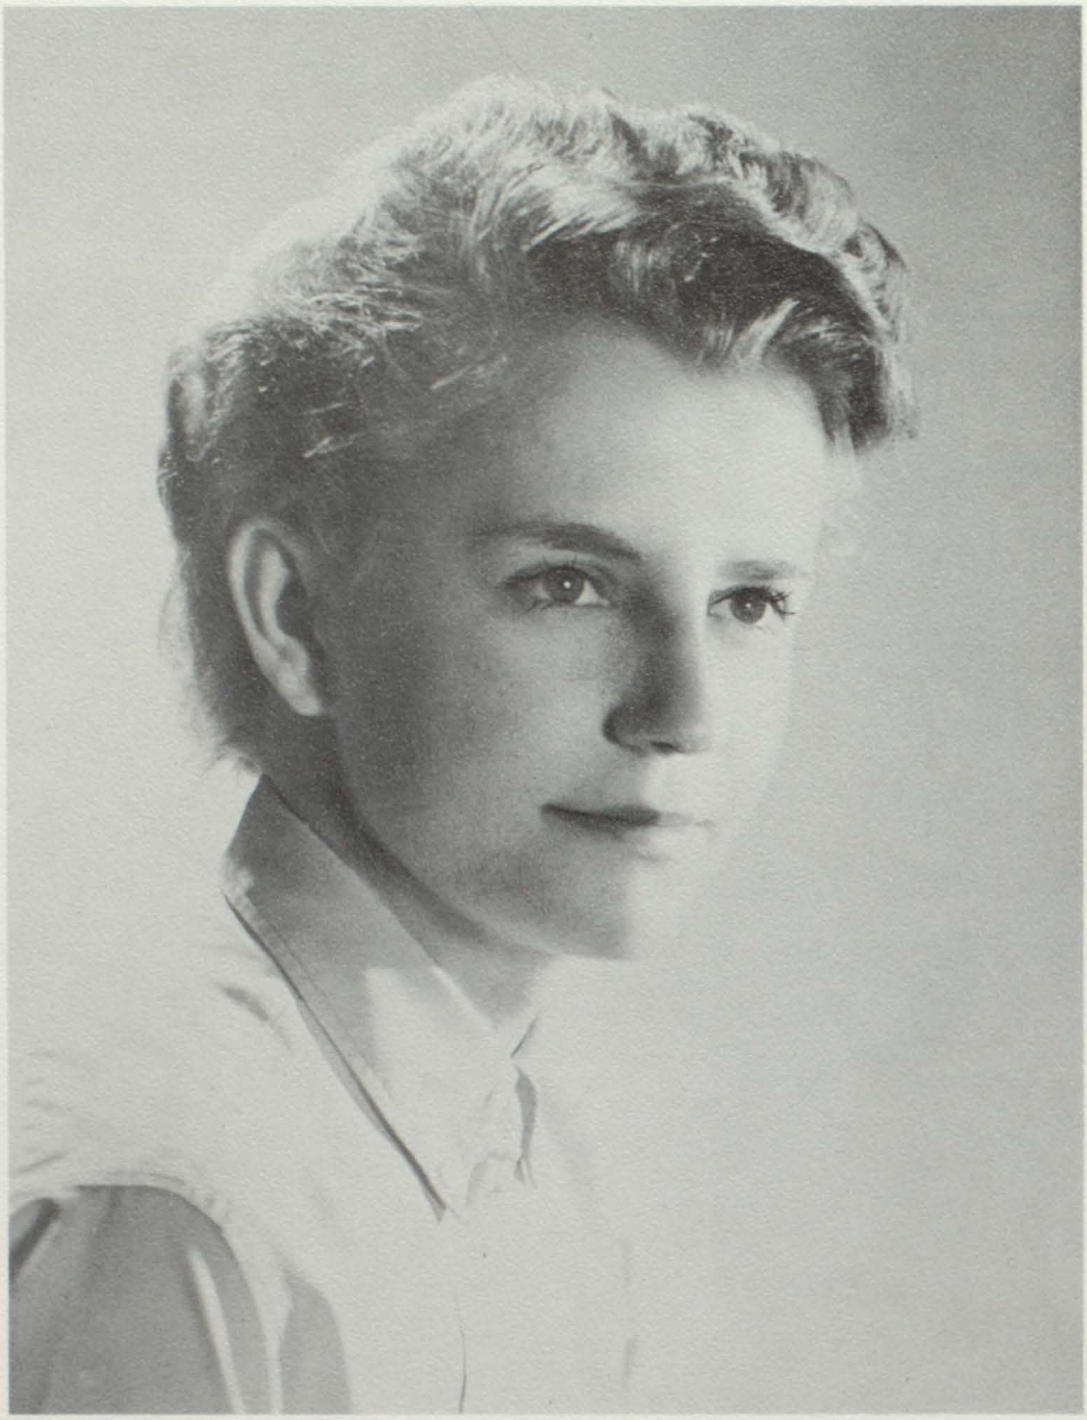

Love, Loyalty, and Faith . . . three important words in our School Song. How we all need these words today!

Often I have wished that I might give each graduate a magic formula for success and happiness, providing, of course, I had such to give. I can think of nothing better, however, than the ability to love, the courage to be loyal, and the faith to believe that, in spite of difficulties, what is good and true will eventually be.

My earnest desire for each member of the Class of 1962 is that wherever she may go or in whatever circumstances she may find herself, she will never forget the sincere meaning of our School Song.

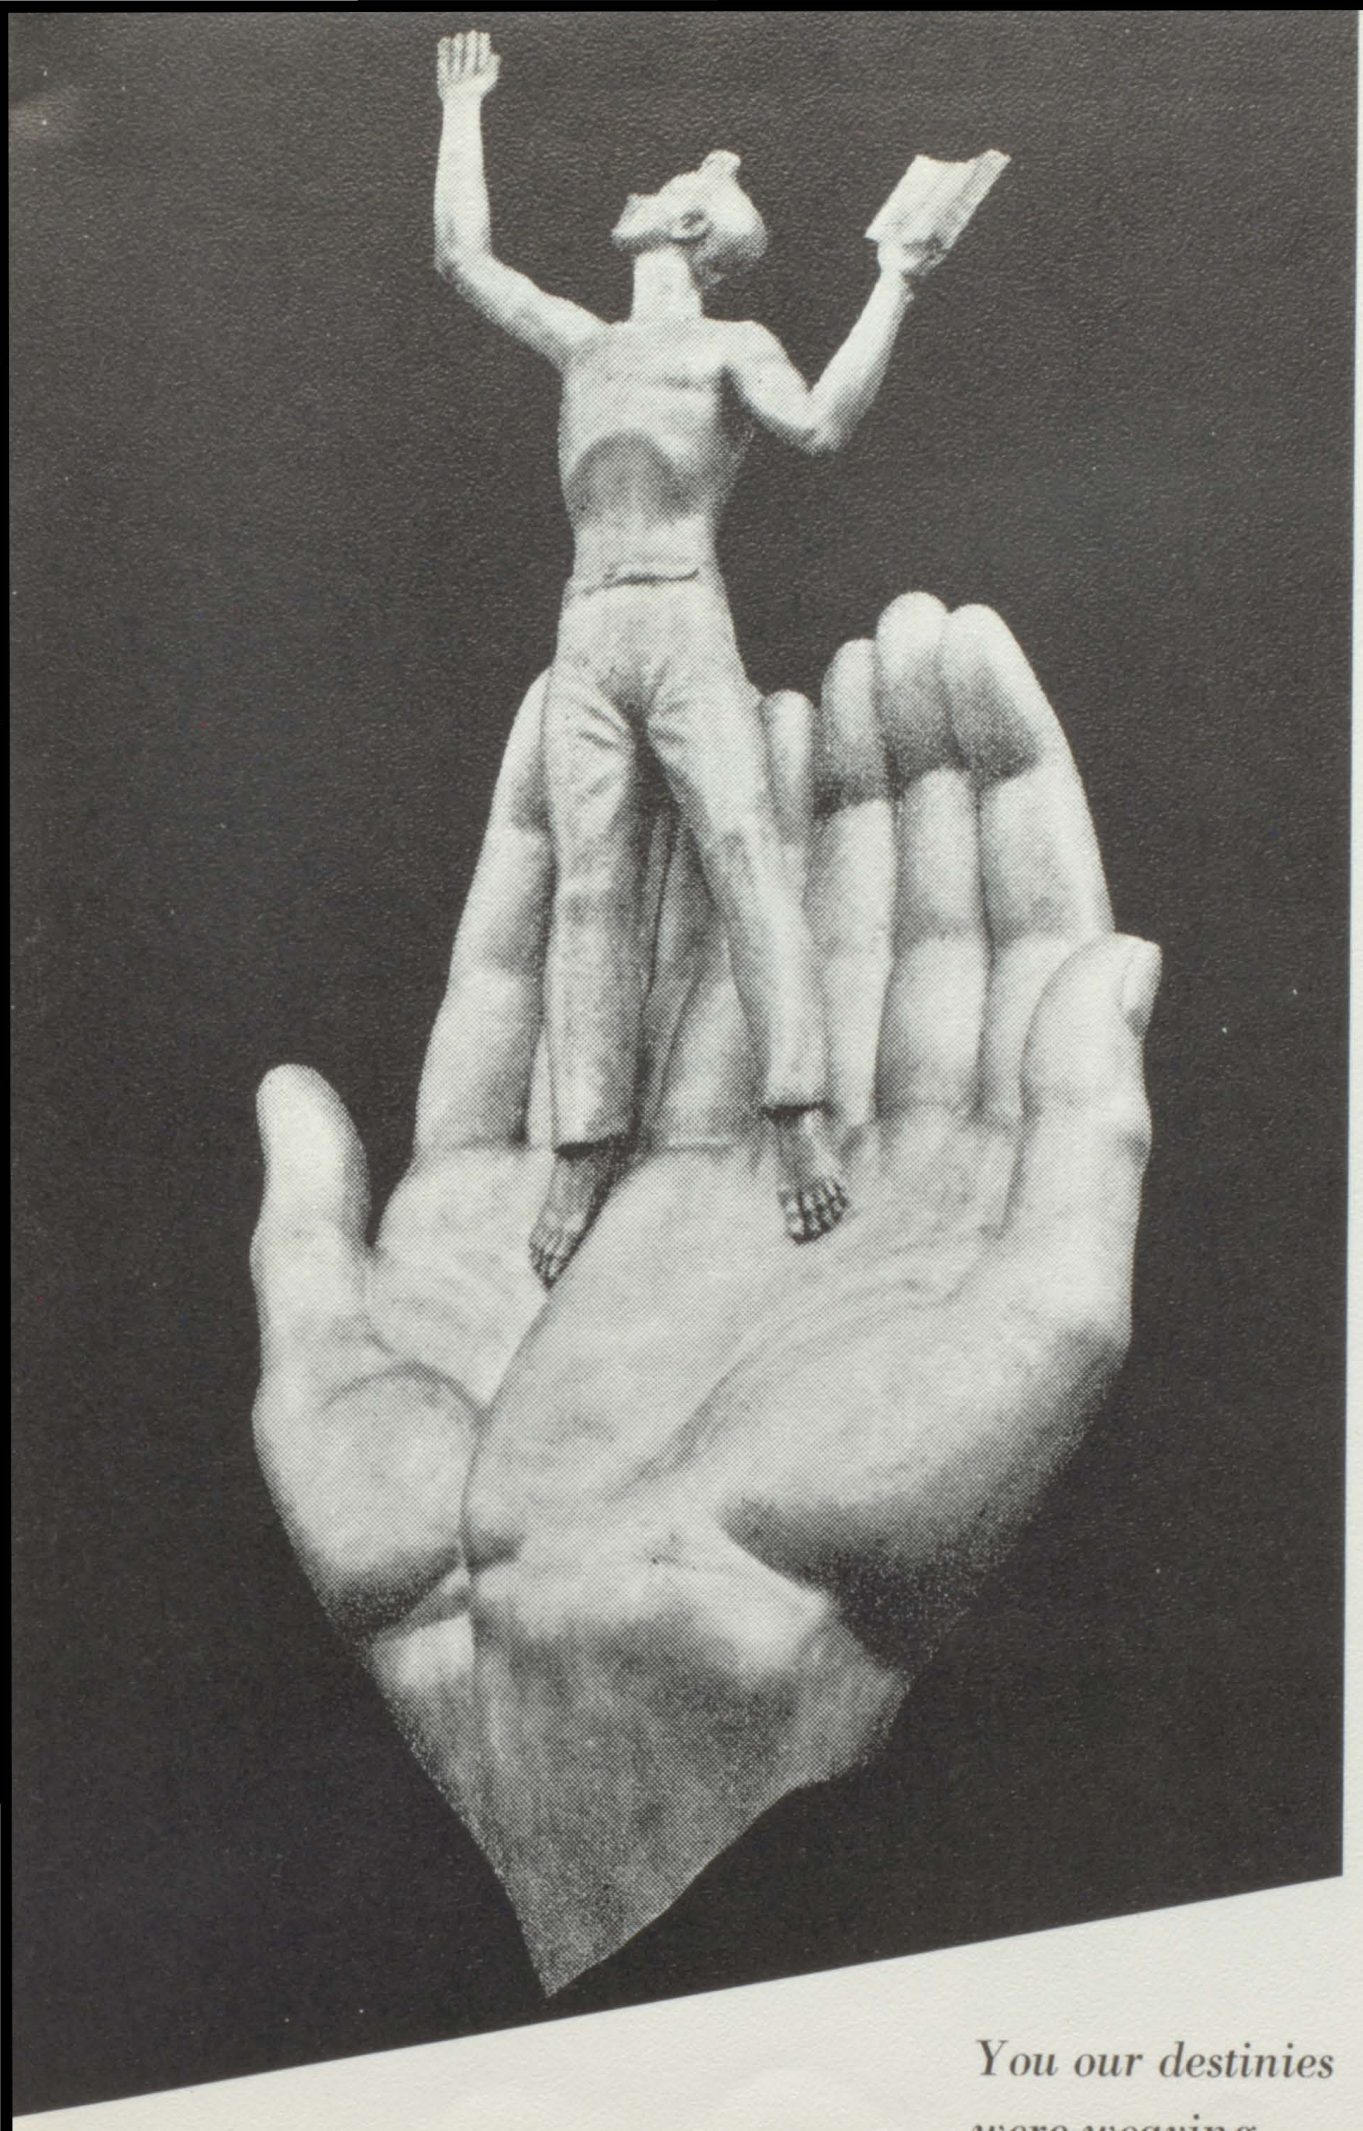

Dedication

Faith that guides
and lights us ever

To Miss Marjory A. Gamblin

Whose sincere interest, understanding guidance, youthful outlook, keen wit, and thoughtful instruction have been so valuable to all of us throughout our senior year, we, the Class of Nineteen Hundred Sixty-Two dedicate this, our yearbook.

Every student in the Upper School is a member of the Student Council. Representatives are elected from each class and the officers from the senior class.

The program this year has differed somewhat from programs of past years, but the basic traditions have remained. The most prominent new feature is the demerit system, which has greatly helped the Student Council's endeavors to uphold school rules. Under this system, points are granted for offenses according to the severity of the offense. The punishments for these points include extra academic work and speaking in assembly. Although this system is still in its early stages, it has proved quite successful thus far.

Once again, a one-day vacation was received for passing the goal in the annual Magazine Campaign. The Fair, this year with a "Country Fair" theme, was a huge success. Students, faculty members, and parents participated enthusiastically and produced an afternoon that was both enjoyable and profitable.

The Student Council has enjoyed a very successful year because of its many varied activities.

National Honor Society

The Prospect Hill chapter of the National Honor Society was founded in 1959 to stimulate an enthusiasm for scholarship, leadership, and service.

In order to be eligible for membership, a student must be on the Honor Roll at least once during the year and must have the high recommendation of four teachers and the headmistress.

The Honor Society participates in all school activities and has some especially for its members. One of the tables at the Fair is managed by the members.

New members are announced at the Commencement exercises in June. Each then receives the gold pin which signifies membership. This honor is something for which every Prospect Hill student should strive.

Literary Club

A new organization at Prospect Hill this year is the Literary Club, whose adviser is Miss Remington. The purpose of this club is to acquaint its members with some of the world's great literature.

This year, the club has read a group of novels ranging from the earliest ones, such as: Cervantes' Don Quixote, Richardson's Pamela, and Voltaire's Candide to the more modern ones, such as: The Idiot by Dostoevsky and Anna Karenina by Tolstoi.

A continuing subject for discussion at the Club's weekly meetings has been the question, "What is a novel?" The members of the Prospect Hill Literary Club have had an interesting time reading the books and trying to discover the answer!

Glee Club

The Prospect Hill Glee Club has spent an exciting and busy year. Under the direction of Mrs. Collins, the group of girls has presented a number of concerts including three with boys' schools: Blair Academy, the Hun School, and Newark Academy. A Christmas concert and a program at the Art Exhibit were presented jointly with the Lower School.

On March 11, fifteen girls from the Glee Club went to Blair Academy to participate in the Independent Schools' All-State Choir concert. This choir was composed of students from three New Jersey independent schools.

The program of the Glee Club was made extremely enjoyable by Mrs. Collins' excellent instruction and by these new activities.

The Athletic Association is composed of a representative from each class in the Upper School and a President elected by the entire Upper School. This organization is in charge of various aspects of the physical education program at Prospect Hill.

The athletic program at Prospect Hill is aimed at developing healthy bodies and promoting good sportsmanship. The program is conducted at the Newark YM-YWCA under the direction of Miss Jessica Cameron.

This year's activities have included a special physical fitness program and periodic fitness tests, in addition to the usual volleyball, tennis, basketball, swimming and gymnastics.

School Notes

SEPTEMBER

During the month, part of the Lower School and the entire Upper School spent a very enjoyable day in Old Museum Village in Monroe, New York. This model of an early American village proved very interesting to students and faculty members.

The Ninth through the Twelfth grades were the guests of Blair Academy for a football game and dance at the end of the month.

OCTOBER

The Senior Class presented the Aster Party. Each class performed an original skit, and, for the first time, the faculty also contributed its skit.

The Lower School celebrated Halloween at a lovely party, complete with costumes, decorations, and refreshments.

NOVEMBER

Parents stepped into their children's shoes for the evening at the P.T.A.'s annual "Go-to-School Night".

The school Fair, whose theme this year was "A Country Fair", was held on November 18. Everyone who attended had a very pleasant afternoon.

As has been our custom for many years, the Upper and Lower Schools filled Thanksgiving baskets to be distributed to needy families.

DECEMBER

Christmas vacation was preceded by a Christmas Concert given by both Upper and Lower Schools under the direction of Mrs. Collins. After the production of angelic music, an informal reception was held for participants and their guests.

JANUARY

The History of Art class, with Miss Stokes, visited St. John the Divine and the Metropolitan Museum.

The P.T.A. sponsored its annual Dinner Dance at the Hotel Douglas.

On January 27, the Glee Club of Blair Academy was the guest of the Prospect Hill Glee Club for a joint concert of sacred music. A dance followed the concert.

FEBRUARY

The newly formed Alumnae Association held a meeting which included a luncheon and fashion show. During this meeting, held on February 3, the Association's constitution was revised.

On February 10, Prospect Hill's Glee Club went to the Hun School to present a concert with the Glee Club of that school. The concert was followed by a dance.

Many of the Upper School girls attended a performance of La Traviata at the Metropolitan Opera. It was a trip which all the girls enjoyed immensely.

On Valentine's Day, a Father-Daughter Dinner was held. We hope this new event will start a tradition that will continue for many years to come.

MARCH

The P.T.A. held its annual Dessert-Card Party at the Robert Treat Hotel. Entertainment and a raffle added to the afternoon's enjoyment.

Several girls represented Prospect Hill at the Northfield Conference at the Beard School. This religious conference has become an annual event in which Prospect Hill participates.

APRIL

On April 25, the P.T.A. sponsored a special program on "The Role of the Independent School".

MAY

The Semi-formal Dinner Dance for the students was held at the school on May 12.

The annual Pet Show was presented by the Lower School on May 15, transforming the lawns of Prospect Hill into almost a zoo.

The combined Glee Clubs of Prospect Hill and Newark Academy gave a concert at the Academy.

On May 28, the halls of Prospect Hill again resembled a museum for our annual Art Exhibit. In addition to the participation of the entire school in creating the works of art, alumnae contributions were presented for the first time. The evening was made complete by a music program presented by the combined Upper and Lower Schools.

JUNE

As the school year drew to a close, the Lower School had its cook-out.

On June 13, the Seniors presented their Class Day. After presenting their class skit and distributing the yearbooks, the Class of 1962 relinquished the Senior Seat to the Class of 1963.

June 14, Commencement, marked the end of the school year. As the ceremony ended, each graduate received the coveted gold star.

Alumnae Directory

Katherine Tappen Guthorn, Class of 1940, and her husband are keeping busy with their seven children ranging in age from seven months to ten years.

Barbara Bellin, Class of 1957, graduated from Vassar College in 1961. She is now married to Dr. Martin Sorger.

Barbara Ferri, Class of 1959, is engaged to Michael Bonomo and they plan to be married soon.

Carol Russo, Class of 1960, is studying nursing at a New York hospital under the auspices of Skidmore College.

Diana Malanga, Class of 1961, married Stephen Knee last June. They are attending Duke University.

The Alumnae Association was formed in 1961 for the purpose of renewing contacts with former Prospect Hill graduates. Its officers for 1961-62 are the following: President — Mrs. J. H. Grebe (Lois McCullough, 1950); Vice-President — Mrs. Charles Fischer (Barbara Pannullo, 1955); Recording Secretary — Miss Rosalie Posner (1955); Corresponding Secretary — Miss Helen Hunt Jaques (1915); and Treasurer — Mrs. James Kenyon (Patricia Leslie, 1945). Mrs. Martin Everett (Katherine Van Keuren, 1920) is the Association's representative to the Prospect Hill Board of Trustees.

Although the Association is still in its early stages of development, its members plan to have their own bulletin in the near future. Periodic meetings are held in the fall and in February. In this way, old friendships may be renewed and new ones formed among the Prospect Hill alumnae.

This year has seen changes in both the academic and social programs at Prospect Hill. The curriculum has been enlarged, the special-events calendar has been expanded, and new activities have been added.

Scholastic advances have been evident in both the Lower and Upper Schools. The Second Grade has begun the study of French, while the Third Grade is continuing the Spanish classes begun last year. A course in Advanced Mathematics has been initiated for qualifying juniors and seniors. The Literary Club has given interested students the opportunity to read and discuss books which are not part of the English program. Barbara Starr became a Finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Program.

With the expansion of the social calendar, the Glee Club has had concerts and dances. On Valentine's Day, fathers accompanied their children to a Father-Daughter Dinner. The Senior II and Senior I classes each had "College Night" which gave students and their parents the opportunity to discuss their plans for the future.

Other additions have been made to the school program. Daily assemblies were started, with Wednesdays now reserved for special programs. The Student Council assumed the responsibility for the bulletin boards and even provided a suggestion box! A new project, the Candy Campaign, was initiated. Proceeds will be used by the Student Fund for such things as scholarships.

Prospect Hill has had a busy and rewarding year because of the many new activities and courses offered.

Special Dedication

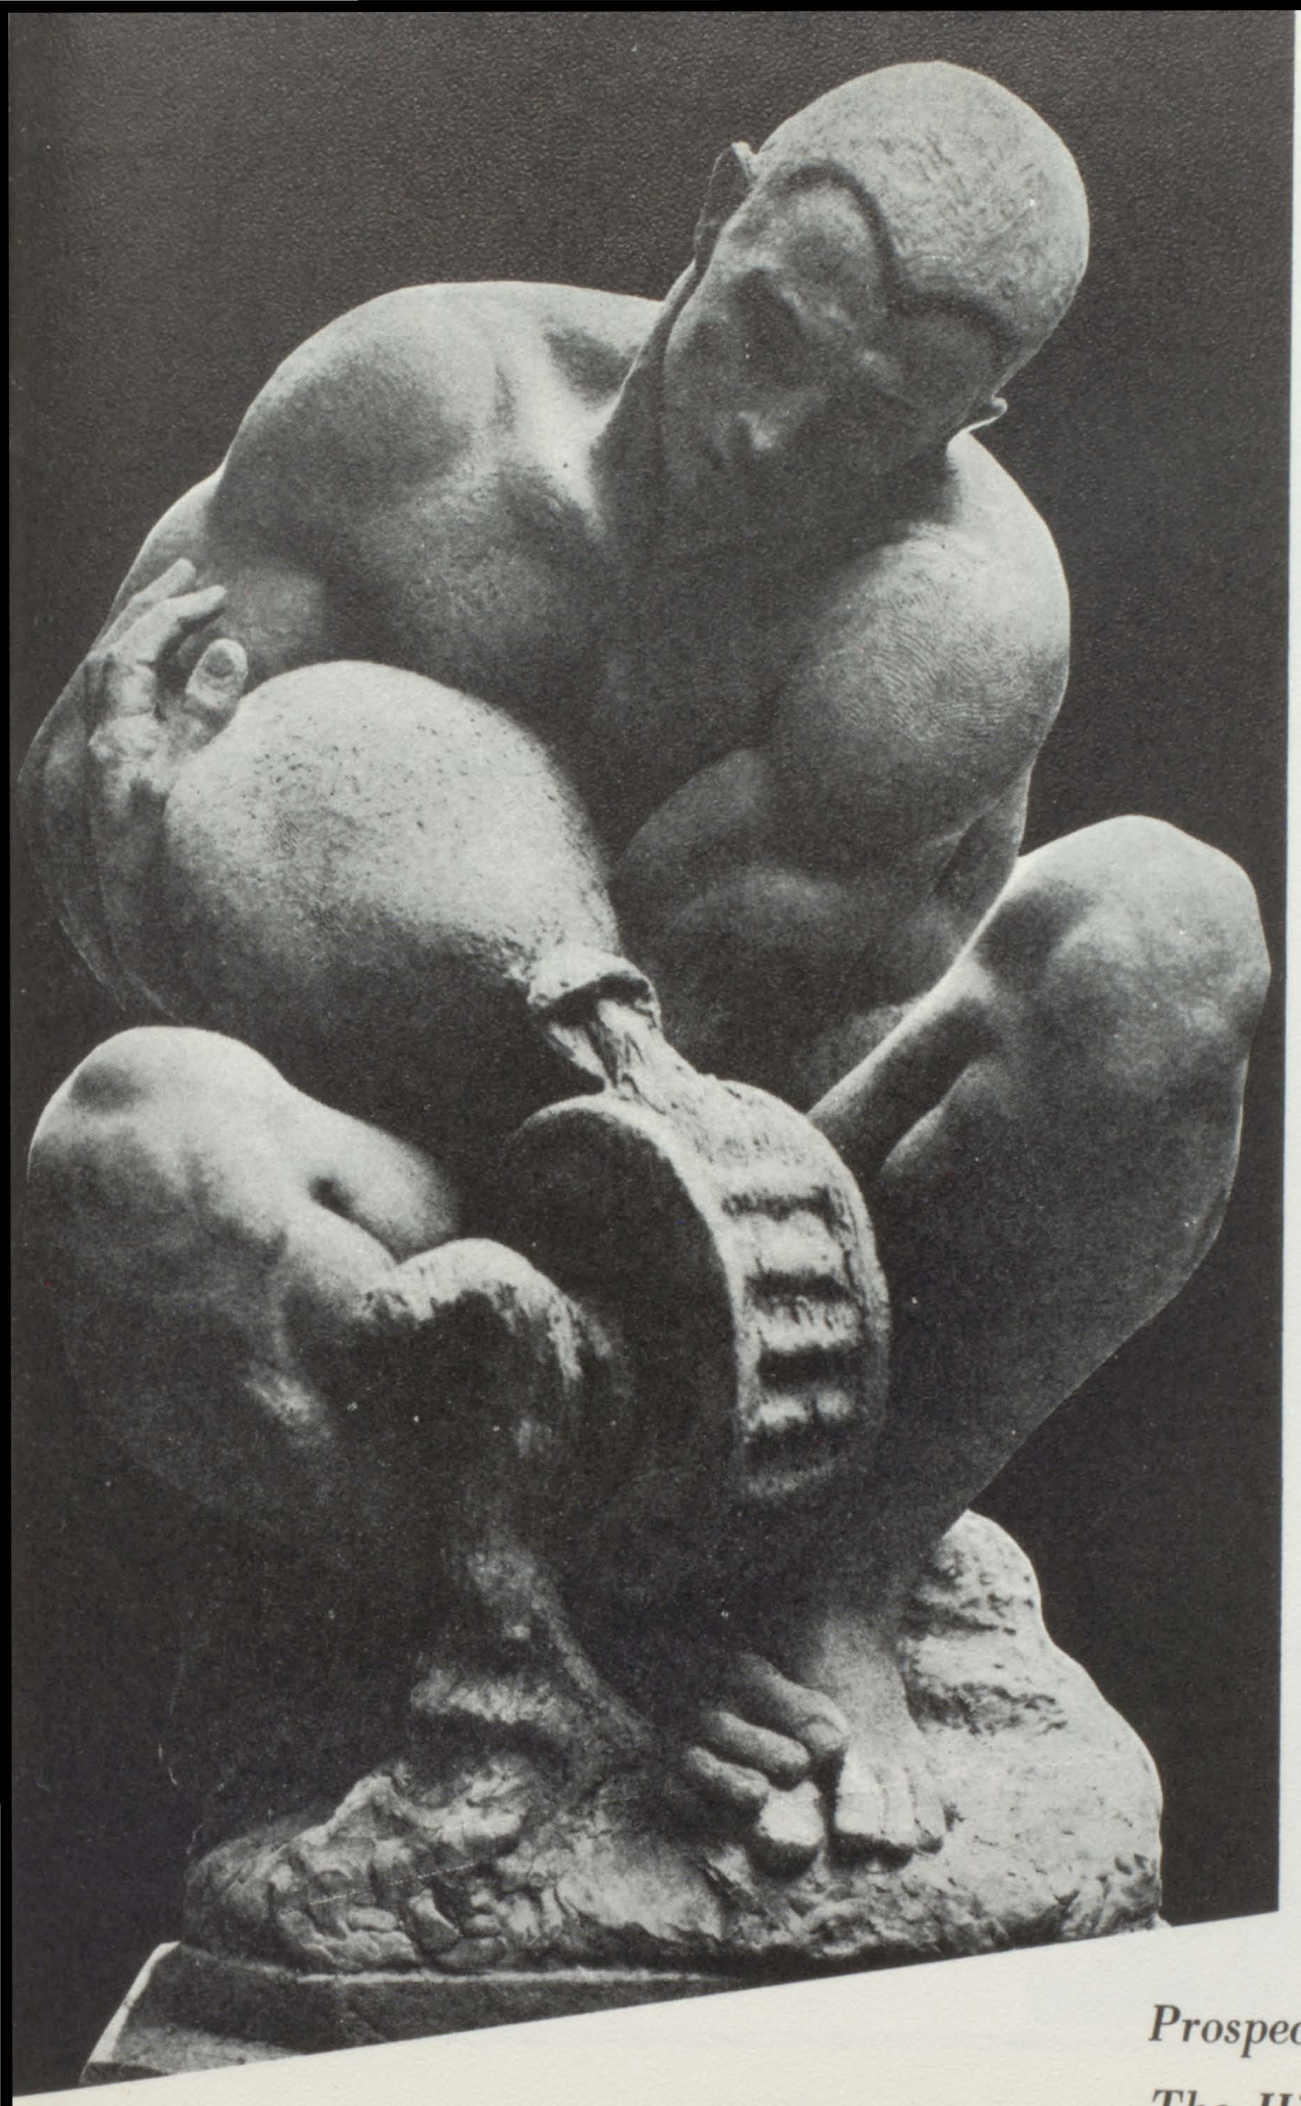

Miss Rose Stokes

To Rose Stokes . . . whose loyal devotion to Prospect Hill has for many years been an example of excellence, not only to her students, but to faculty and parents.

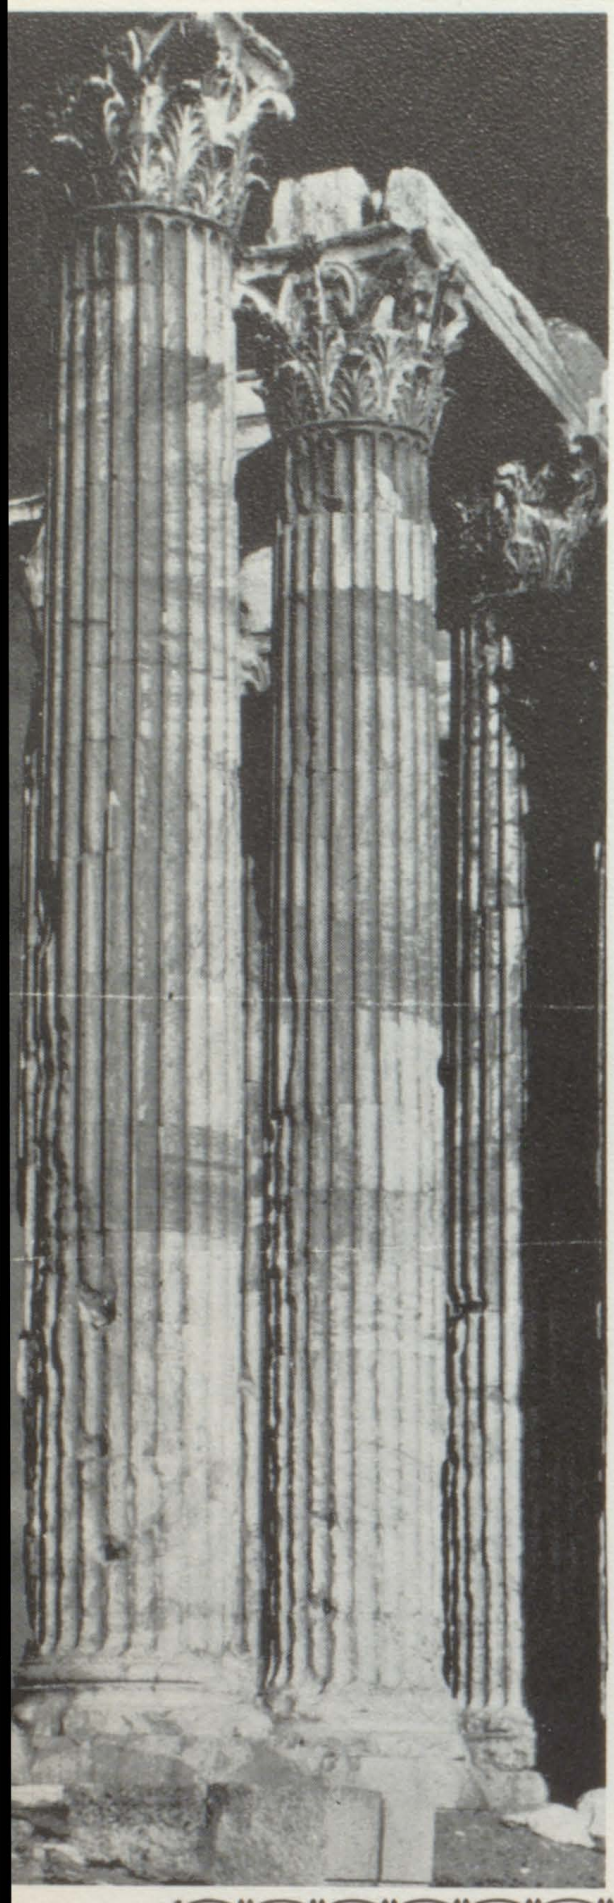

Miss Stokes has been more than a teacher and a colleague to many; she has been a friend to us all. While respecting and encouraging the rights of each individual, she has demonstrated unlimited service to her fellowman through her own selflessness.

We, the Class of 1962, now about to become alumnae, bestow upon her Honorary Membership in our class. May life offer her health, happiness, and many more years of close association with this, her school.
